HUSBAND- Dr. Robert McNealy Craig (Continued)

died in Montgomery Co., VA about 1855. Dr. Craig's mother was Mary McNealy, a daughter of Robert and Rebecca (Barnett) McNealy. David Craig's father, Benjamin Craig, died at sea while on his way to America.

CHILD 5 - Dr. Thomas Cloyd Craig

Dr. T.C. Craig was educated in private schools at home, completing a through course in classics and higher mathematics. He was a non-commissioned officer in a well drilled military company, the "Pulaski Guards" and when the Civil War broke out his company was ordered to the front on the 17th day of April, 1861, as Company C, 4th Virginia Regiment, Stonewall Brigade.

At the battle of Winchester or Kernstown on March 23, 1862, he was captured and kept a prisoner at Ft. Delaware and was exchanged on Aug 12th. He immediately re-enlisted in a cavalry regiment, the 25th Virginia. He was again captured in a battle in the mountains of Kentucky on April 12th, 1864, but made his escape the same day. When the news of Lee's surrender was heard, his brigade was on the march to Lynchburg, from southwest Virginia, the brigade was disbanded at Christiansburg, 20 miles from his home at Newbern and the men told to go home as the war was over.

In four more days he would have been four years in the Confederate army. On reaching his home the next day, he hitched up the horse he had ridden three years in the Cavalry service to a plow, with a mule that had belonged to the Confederate government, and drove into the best field on his father's farm, and began farming, with a revolver at his waist and slept in a bed in the stable at night to protect his team from thieving soldiers, returning to their homes in the South.

In the meantime, he studied medicine, with his father as preceptor, and finally graduated from the Medical College of Virginia and was appointed interne in the City Hospital, after a competitive examination. This position he held 18 months. He then took over his father's practice at his home, but after a year, he left for the west, and located at Easton, Kansas, where he has been in continuous practice ever since, except the year 1891 when he was sent to the legislature, defeating a Populist and a Republican, by a big majority.

Notes

HUSBAND- James Cloyd

From the "History of Darke County, Ohio":

"To whom the titular honor of being the first settler belongs is hard to determine. It lies between James Cloyd and Jonathan Pearson, with the evidence in favor of the former.

Mr. Cloyd was born in Virginia, in 1790, and removed to Ohio when a child. Engaged as a soldier during the war of 1812, he was stationed much of the time at Fort Greenville. In 1815, he married Elizabeth Noffsinger, daughter of Andrew Noffsinger, one of the pioneers of the county.

In 1814, Mr. Cloyd moved to this township and settled on the prairie, just south of the present site of Palestine. He was one of the first grand jury empaneled in the county, and bore a good name for energy, generosity and benevolence. His death took place May 26, 1872, and his remains rest in the Palestine Cemetery." end quote

James Cloyd was perhaps the first permanent settler in the township. He was born in Virginia in 1780 ; when but a mere lad he emigrated to Ohio, at the breaking-out of the war of 1812, and he gave his services in the defense of his country ; he was stationed a portion of the time at Fort Greenville. He was at this latter place when the children of William Wilson were murdered within sight of the block-house, and was one who assisted in their burial. At the close of the war. he remained in the county, and married Miss Elizabeth Noffsinger, the daughter of Andrew Noffsinger, one of the first settlers in the county.

He was a "man of the chase," and delighted in hunting. James Cloyd was a member of the first grand jury that ever met in the county ; after his marriage, he first settled on the prairie southeast of the present town of Palestine ; from there he located on land now owned by David Wilcox ; he remained here about sixteen years, in which time he prepared much of the farm for agricultural uses, which was all in the woods when he entered it; he then disposed of this farm with the intention of emigrating to Illinois, but after visiting this latter place he returned satisfied to spend the remnant of his days in German Township ; he then entered a quarter section just west of Palestine, on which he erected a house and passed the remainder of his life.

He died May 26, 1872, at the ripe old age of 81 years 10 months and 11 days ; thus passed away a pioneer and a soldier, lamented by all who knew him; he had a sympathetic heart and a charitable spirit, and many a needy neighbor was made glad by his charities. His wife survived him only a few years, her death occurring June 17, 1875, at the age of 76 years 3 months and 6 days. They were the parents of seven children, four sons and three daughters, four of whom are still living.

CHILD 2 - David Gardiner Houston
David G. Houston is shown on the Highbridge Cemetery Find-A-Grave Memorial# 13423462. It says the following: "KILLED AT GETTYSBURG, BURIED AT BALTIMORE GREENMOUNT : from letter written July 9th 1863 by CAPTAIN JOHN THOMAS JAMES (CSA) 11TH REGT VIRGINIA VOLUNTEERS: "Captain Houston was mortally wounded. I did not get to see him during the engagement and cannot tell how he acted, but as he was as brave as the brave can be, no doubt as to what and how he did. He was shot through the bowels with a Minnie ball while leading the regiment into the thickest of the charge. "
Perhaps there is a memorial marker for him in the Highbridge Cemetery in Rockbridge Co., VA

March, 1861, was elected second lieutenant of the company, was promoted to first lieutenant and after the battle of Gettysburg was elected captain. He was in the famous charge of Pickett's division at Gettysburg, was left on the field severely wounded, and after remaining some time in the hospital was transferred as a prisoner to Johnson's Island, where he was kept until exchanged in March 1865. He was twice wounded during the war. After the war he studied law and graduated in 1867, began the practice of his chosen profession in Fincastle, VA, and was elected County Judge of Botetourt County in 1870 which office he eloquently (unreadable)."

On Find-A-Grave, Memorial# 13559639:

"Lieutenant Thomas Dix Houston of Natural Bridge, Virginia, was imprisoned at Johnson Island, Sandusky, Ohio, after the Battle of Gettysburg. He had participated in the Pickett's charge and had fallen amidst the enemies guns at the crest of Cemetery Ridge. He recuperated in hospitals at Gettysburg and Baltimore. Lieutenant Thomas Dix Houston's war letters were compiled, in 1980, into a book, titled "Prisoner of war letters--1863-1865--from Johnson Island," edited by Charles W. Turner."
